Communications

26. The secretariat delivered a significant amount of targeted, fresh relevant and informative web, print and digital news content on the Fund's work that has continued to help advance its programs and goals. Since the last board meeting, 12 news stories have been published on the web and disseminated through the Fund's extensive electronic email and social media networks. Topics ranged from new project approvals, the Fund's concrete effective projects, COP22 goals and results, the Fund's policies in action, new accreditations, new pledges, the Fund's themed events, panel discussions, speeches, and the Fund's added value in the climate space as iterated by implementing entities and countries throughout COP22. New full-color country project stories on Morocco and Costa Rica have been completed in three languages with commentaries from beneficiaries and implementing entities. One newsletter and five videos have also been completed on COP22-related themes.

27. Extensive communications were conducted in preparation of and throughout COP22 in Morocco. This included creation of a dedicated COP22 micro-website to host all latest news of the Fund, photos, videos, media and social media links related to COP22. An engaging long-form video on the gender policy detailing several projects with strong gender components was made, and posted to the site, YouTube, and shared by the partners such as UNFCCC. It received well over 700 views and resonated well with Gender Day. Another video featuring the Fund's innovative water management project in Morocco and the workshops in Morocco was a success, gaining well over 425 views and coinciding with Water Day. Both videos were also shown continuously at an original multimedia exhibit hosted by the Fund on-site at COP22 featuring new project photos from around globe. The Fund also participated on a Gender Day panel and UN Climate Change Studio TV, which were covered in stories and pictures by the secretariat. Three shorter-form videos focused on the projects were also made post-COP22. A web and print version of Project Story on Morocco was completed for COP22 and disseminated broadly to stakeholders in person and over web. A steady stream of news releases on the Fund's goals for COP22, new pledges, events, progress in Paris Agreement and results in attaining resource mobilization goals was released throughout COP22 in timely manner on web, social media and via email. Multiple speeches were written for the Chair of the Board for the High Level Segments and side events, as well as several sets of targeted talking points prepared for the secretariat staff for media interviews. The secretariat coordinated several media interviews, including with Yale Environment 360, the Guardian, Christian Science Monitor, Devex and Inside Climate News, among others. The secretariat also coordinated a well-received first-ever themed side event on family agriculture, featuring presentations from implementing entities on project successes, NGO and country perspectives.

28. The Adaptation Fund appeared in at least 50 media news stories from October to December 2016 with 95% positive, 4% neutral and 1% negative. Many of these positive news stories were republished on the Fund's website and through its social media channels, particularly during COP22. The Fund's original web stories, social media and outreach worked well together and were particularly effective during COP22, which contributed to the positive outcomes of eclipsing resource mobilization goals and advancing further in Paris Agreement language.

29. The secretariat has continued to take an aggressive approach to social media, positioning the Fund as a pioneer, innovator and thought leader in the adaptation and climate finance field. The secretariat continues to post frequently to its social media channels with fresh relevant content and is witnessing solid growth and engagement. The number of Twitter followers has grown from 6,000 in September 2016 to nearly 7,000 in March 2017. The Adaptation Fund also ranked number nine among the Top 100 influencers and brands talking about Climate Action on Twitter, according to a new analysis released in February 2017 from Analytica that examined over 84,000 tweets from 2 September to 1 December, 2016 based on 'Resonance, Relevance, Reach and Reference.' The secretariat further produced a Flickr photo album on COP22, and its social media engagement across Twitter and Facebook alone reached a peak of 2,308 post likes, clicks and engagements in November 2016 during the height of COP22.

30. In addition to website and social media news, the secretariat has continued to expand its email lists and e-newsletter sharing service, Constant Contact, and networks that receive the latest Fund's news Fund and press releases. This has led to increased interest from the media, stakeholders and partners around the Fund events, such as workshops, seminars and climate change conferences like COPs where the Fund is participating and contributes to its credibility and growth as an innovator and thought leader in the field.

31. The secretariat has drafted a detailed strategy to celebrate the Fund's tenth anniversary later during 2017 through development of a special electronic publication and limited print edition, logo and celebratory event to take place in Bonn during COP23. The goal is to highlight the Fund's pioneering and innovating accomplishments over the years through written stories both from the secretariat and guest articles, photos, videos and high-level speeches to reach large international audiences of the Fund's important contributions and continuing valuable work in the climate change adaptation and climate finance field.

32. The secretariat continued to maintain three websites: the primary public Adaptation Fund website, a knowledge exchange website Climate Finance Ready co-managed with the Climate and Development Knowledge Network (CDKN), and Accreditation Workflow, a password-protected website for the entity accreditation process. The secretariat continued to develop usability and fresh, engaging easy-to-read content for the Adaptation Fund website. It also enhanced the Accreditation Workflow, and took steps in collaboration with the CDKN to produce more relevant climate finance readiness content on the Climate Finance Ready website.

Support to the Accreditation Panel

33. The secretariat worked closely with the Chair and Vice-Chair of the Accreditation Panel and assisted the Panel in its discussions. The twenty-fourth Panel meeting was held on 31 January and 1 February 2017 in Washington, D.C., USA. The Panel reviewed 20 applications for accreditation and re-accreditation and discussed issues relating to efficiency and effectiveness of the accreditation process such as application of a new policy into accreditation application. The Panel also continued its review of the applications of eleven National Implementing Entity (NIE) candidates and one Regional Implementing Entity (RIE) candidate.

34. In line with the Board Decision B.28/38 on fast track reaccreditation, the secretariat has communicated the decision to the GCF secretariat as well as the Fund's implementing entities. In addition, in accordance with the decision, the Accreditation Panel started applying fast track re-accreditation process to the implementing entities which applied for re-accreditation and was accredited with the GCF within the last four years.

Table 1: Status of accreditation applications submitted to the secretariat as of 15 February 2017

	NIE	RIE	MIE
Accredited	25	6	12
Not accredited	8	1	0
Under review by Accreditation Panel	11	1	0
Screened by secretariat pending completion of accreditation application	5	0	0

(Table does not include unscreened, withdrawn, or closed applications)

Screening/technical review of project/programme proposals

35. The secretariat screened and prepared technical reviews of ten fully developed single-country project documents and six single-country project concepts, as well as four regional fully developed project documents and, three regional project concepts and two regional project pre-concepts received during the reporting period. In performing this task, the dedicated team of officials of the secretariat was supported by GEF secretariat technical staff, five contracted technical experts and an environmental and social expert.

Review of Project Performance Reports (PPRs)

36. The Secretariat has completed the review and cleared the first Project Performance Reports (PPR) for the projects implemented in Costa-Rica (Fundecooperacion, inception date: October 2015), Guatemala (UNDP, inception date: March 2015), and South Africa (Small Grant Facility Project, SANBI, inception date 16 September 2015; uMngeni Resilience Project, SANBI, inception date 12 November 2015), the second PPR for the project implemented in Rwanda (MINIRENA, inception date: June 2014), the third PPR for

The project in Uruguay (ANII) separately requested the Board to approve the extension of the project completion date. Following the Board decision B.28/47 at its twenty-eighth meeting to delegate to the secretariat its authority to approve technical review and clearance of the PPRs prior to authorization by the Chair of the cash transfer of funding tranches, the PPRs above were cleared and the secretariat notified the Board accordingly. The following projects subsequently received financing tranches: Cambodia, Costa-Rica, Djibouti, Guatemala, Rwanda, South Africa (Small Grants Facility) and Turkmenistan. The PPRs were also made publicly available on the Fund's website. The secretariat is continuing the review of PPRs for projects in Ecuador (WFP), Madagascar (UNEP), Mauritania (WFP), Mauritius (UNDP), Mongolia (UNDP), Morocco (ADA), Sri Lanka (WFP), and Tanzania (UNEP).

Gender Policy and Action Plan

37. The Board approved the Fund's Gender Policy and Action Plan in March 2016, which aims at ensuring that projects and programmes supported by the Fund provide women and men with an equal opportunity to build resilience, address their differentiated vulnerabilities and increase their capability to adapt to climate change impacts. As part of implementation of the Fund's Gender Policy and Action Plan, the secretariat presented to the Board a revised operational policies and guidelines for Parties to access resources from the Fund (OPGs) and the Annexes three and four, which were approved by the Board at its twenty-eighth and twenty-ninth meetings. In addition, the secretariat prepared, in consultation with a gender expert, document AFB/B.29/Inf.6 "Gender Guidance Document for Implementing Entities on Compliance with the Adaptation Fund Gender Policy." This documents is intended to provide supplemental information and practical guidance to the IEs, including through concrete examples, recommendations and suggestions, for achieving and assessing compliance with the Gender Policy to mainstream gender considerations throughout the Fund project and programme cycle. This document will be communicated to the Fund's stakeholders including the IEs and DAs, following Board's guidance at the upcoming meeting, similar to the case of the EFC guidance document discussed at the PPRC 16th meeting.
